

Granada on a Budget

Immerse yourself in the allure of this historic Spanish city

Here we guide you through affordable local delights and captivating landmarks and sights, ensuring a memorable and economical stay for you in the heart of Granada!

Tapas Culture in Granada

One of the most ingrained cultural and gastronomical traditions of this marvelous city. Eating tapas means eating small and varied portions of delicious local dishes. These are usually served free of charge with an alcoholic drink, sometimes also with a soda or sparkling water.

A surprising voyage of discovery

Tapas are mostly chosen by the server of the restaurant or bar. In some cases, you may choose which tapas will accompany your drink. From Sacromonte omelette, local goat cheese, curated Spanish ham slices to paella, meatballs and fried fish, there is a wide variety of dishes you can taste. The best way of eating tapas is by going with the flow and trying every delicious dish your server puts on your table!
